

THE CENTRAL RECORD.

THIRTY THIRD YEAR

LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, SEPTEMBER 7, 1922.

NUMBER 23.

SAPIRO TO BE IN PERSONAL CHARGE OF WATTS CASE

General Counsel of Burley Co-operative Will Direct Prosecution of Damage Suit for Violation of Contract by Fayette Grower

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 4.—Aaron Sapiro, general counsel of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, will be personally in charge of the association's case against Garrett Watts, Fayette county farmer, when it comes up in the Bourbon circuit court at the fall term, according to information given out at the association's offices at Lexington. Mr. Sapiro, who has been on a tour of the dark tobacco districts of Kentucky and Tennessee, is in Lexington. Mr. Sapiro said that the California Bean Growers' Association, another of the Sapiro organizations, has won a judgment for $21,000 against the Binde Land Company, a big bean-growing corporation of California, for damages and counsel fees in a similar case, the company having broken its contract to deliver its product to the association.

"I consider it of vital importance," said Mr. Sapiro, "that the few men who have violated their contract to deliver their tobacco be not allowed to get away with it. If they will not voluntarily keep their contracts, there is a law in Kentucky which compels them to do so."

Mr. Sapiro said the California leaders in corporate marketing had been much impressed by the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association's success and that H. G. Coykendall, head of the California Pduce and Apricot Growers' Association, is coming to Lexington soon to look into the operations of the burley association, which for speed in organization, efficiency in operation and minimum costs has broken all records in American co-operative organizations.

"It has been little short of a miracle," was Mr. Coykendall's comment on the work of the burley association, when told what had been accomplished within a year's time.

Mr. Sapiro said co-operative marketing is gaining all over the country, and especially among the tobacco growers. Following the successful union of the growers of the south and of Wisconsin and Connecticut, the producers of tobacco in Maryland and Pennsylvania are taking up the proposition. Mr. Sapiro goes to Maryland September 13th and 14th, to attend a meeting of tobacco men at Baltimore.

September 20th and 21st. Mr. Sapiro will be in Maine, advising the leaders in a movement to organize a potato growers' association. One county in that state produces 25,000 carloads of potatoes a year and the growers are starting a movement to market their crop co-operatively, which they expect to spread all over the country, as the tobacco co-operative has done.

Director of Warehouses Ralph M. Barker is busy with preparations for the establishment of the new receiving plants of the association. He will go to Ohio and West Virginia next week, to look after the details of plants at Gallipolis and Crown City, Ohio, and Hurricane and Huntington, W. Va. He said that progress was being made on the new plants and that all would be ready for operation by the time growers will be asked to deliver their tobacco.

CIRCUIT COURT

To Close Saturday After Two Weeks' Term

Many cases have been disposed of in the circuit court during the past week, and by the end of the present week, the docket will be practically cleared. While several small commonwealth cases have been tried most of the courts time has been taken up with civil and ordinary cases. Some of the commonwealth cases disposed of were: Commonwealth vs. Bynum Davis, dismissed; same vs. John Lear, C. C. W., $75 and ten days; Frank Davis, $10 for contempt of court; Jonah Tussey was fined $300 and given one day in jail for having in possession parts of still; Bess Mitchell, Morris Pullins, Alex Mitchell and Lewis Gilbert were each fined $10 for B. of P.; Ed Brown drew a $100 fine for forfeiting bail bond; Mrs. Della H. Acey was granted absolute divorce from J. W. Acey and was given $3,000. Other divorces were: Mattie C. Dunn from Lucien Dunn; Lucy Williams from Earl Williams and Allen Brown from Annie Burton Brown.

The grand jury has returned 11 indictments and have adjourned until this morning. The Harriett Pendleton will case was disposed of yesterday by compromise, the will being set aside.

CONFERENCE

Changes Local Minister to Millersburg

Friends will regret to learn that Rev. Price T. Smith and family are to move next week to Millersburg, Ky., where they will reside for two years at least, this move having been decided upon at the recent Conference of the Methodist church. These splendid people have made many warm friends since moving to Lancaster, and through his ministry, Mr. Smith has brought many souls to Christ in this community.

He will be succeeded here by Rev. H. W. Whitaker, who leaves the churches at Erlanger and Walton. He together with his wife and two children will be heartily received here upon their arrival. Mr. Whitaker is a young man and a recent graduate of Kentucky Wesleyan College. He will occupy the pulpit in the local church next Sunday.

Renewing

Old Acquaintances in Danville

Dr. Simp. Elkin, of Atlanta, paid The Advocate office a pleasant call yesterday afternoon. He was accompanied by his brother, Editor Robert L. Elkin, of Lancaster. Dr. Elkin stated that he had been a subscriber to The Advocate for the past forty-two years and said that he was afraid to stop it, because he felt that it brought him good luck. He graduated from Centre College with the Class of 1879 and after taking his Medical Course, went immediately to Atlanta and has grown up with that city and now stands at the very top of his profession there. When he went to Atlanta, there were only 37,000 inhabitants in that now most prosperous city. The Doctor met a number of his school-day acquaintances and all were delighted to see him. He will return to Atlanta tomorrow evening.—Danville Advocate.

Useful Citizen Passes

Uncle Zack Stewart, well known and useful old colored citizen died rather suddenly last Monday morning of heart attack. He was of the old school and was very efficient in bot-toming chairs and made fine baskets, that are used throughout the county by many of our farmers.

He will be missed from the community, as few there are who keep up the trade, to which "Uncle Zack" was so devoted.

He leaves a large family, who will mourn his passing, as well as many of the white citizens of the community.

Big Offerings

On the back page of this issue is the advertisement of Haselden Brothers, of this city, and Joe S. Haselden, of Crab Orchard, who are offering privately, some choice real estate, including several farms and city lots, both improved and unimproved. They mean just what they say in the advertisement and if you are wanting something in their line the opportunity they are offering should interest anyone.

Horse and Mule Feed keeps your stock in good condition. Hudson & Farnau.

CHEMICAL FIRE TRUCK

Purchased by City Council to Maintain Present Rate of Insurance

A representative from the State Actuarial Bureau met with the City Council at its regular monthly meeting last Monday evening, with every member present, to discuss the importance of the city purchasing a fire apparatus in order to maintain the present rate of insurance to the property owners of the city. It was clearly shown that the fire protection was not adequate with the present rate charged, and unless better protection was provided, the city would be dropped to the ninth class, involving a much higher rate of insurance.

The Actuarial Bureau informed the Council that if the city would purchase a chemical fire truck and one that would carry a specified number of feet of hose and a 35 foot ladder, the same rate now given the property owners of the city would be maintained for at least two years, at the end of which time, it would demand another pumping unit at the reservoir.

A representative from the Oben-chain-Boyer Company, of Logansport, Ind., was also present and submitted prices on chemical equipments mounted on either a Ford chassis or a Reo chassis.

The latter equipment was purchased at a price of $3,800, equipped with two chemical tanks, hose reel and 35 foot ladder, mounted on a Reo Speed Wagon Chassis.

The equipment was purchased thru Kinnaird Brothers, who have the agency for Reo trucks.

Arnold

Mrs. Margaret Anderson Arnold, aged 75 years and relict of the late Thomas M. Arnold, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. F. King and Mr. King, just over the line in Boyle county, last Sunday afternoon, after an illness of nearly one year.

She is survived by six children, Mrs. Ben King, Mrs. Wm. Burnett, Mrs. Howard Withers, of Boyle county and Mrs. Carrie Warford and Messrs. Lee and Ashby Arnold, of this county. Two sisters, Mrs. Bettie Landrum and Mrs. E. W. Morrow, of this city, and Ralph Anderson, of Texas, also survive.

The passing of this beloved woman, removes from Garrard county, where she was born and reared, one of its most honored citizens. She lived in the county practically all of her life, with the exception of the past few months, when she moved to the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. F. King. She was a devout and consecrated member of the Christian church and for many years past held her membership at Pleasant Grove.

Burial took place Tuesday morning in the Lancaster cemetery, Rev. Holder, of the Pleasant Grove church conducting the services at the grave. "Smooth the locks of silver hair, On our mother's brow with tenderest care, Gather the robe in final fold Around the form so still and cold; Lay on her bosom, pure as snow, The fairest, sweetest flowers that grow. Kiss her and leave her our hearts delight; Her pain is over, she sleeps tonight."

Methodist Church Notes

The regular services will be held at the Methodist church next Sunday, preaching both morning and evening, by Rev. H. W. Whitaker, the new pastor. Let every member be present and give the new pastor a hearty welcome.

Pay Your Water Bill

The City Council has ordered me to cut off all water consumers who have not paid for this service by Monday, September 11th. This is to notify all delinquents that above order will be enforced on above date.

J. A. Bratton, Superintendent.

Are you going to the Schooler auction next Saturday, September 9th, at 3:30 P. M.? An ideal place for the retired farmer to live and educate his children.

Paint Lick, Ky. Mrs. W. R. Patrick. Come and see the new fall and winter hats. The latest up to the minute in pattern hats arriving every week.

SCHOOL OPENS

Record Attendance Last Monday

The opening last Monday morning of the Lancaster Graded and High Schools brought out one of the largest enrollments the school has ever experienced, with prospects of many more being added during the next few days. The large auditorium was filled with students and visitors, the latter came to add interest to the opening and to extend best wishes to those in charge for a successful year. After scriptural reading by Superintendent Boyd, the Lord's prayer was repeated in unison, the entire assemblage joining in. A talk from Mr. Boyd and also Mr. J. E. Stormes, chairman of the board of trustees, was well received, and interestingly presented.

Those composing the faculty the coming year and the grades which they have in charge are as follows:

Miss Mary Wilder, Kindergarten; Miss Ada Rich, 1st. grade; Miss Jennie Higgins, 2nd. grade; Miss Mildred Beazley, 3rd. grade; Miss Ethel Estridge, 3rd and 4th. grades; Miss Elizabeth Bettis, 4th. grade; Miss Minnie Johnson, 5th. grade; Miss Minnie Burchett, 6th. grade; Miss Lucretia Skinner, 7th. grade; Miss Eliza Smith, 8th. grade; Mrs. Glass B. Carrier, 9th. grade; Miss Mary Anne Beard, 10th. grade; Miss Bettie M. Robinson, 11th. and 12th. grades.

GREAT PICTURES

At Opera House This and Next Week

Movie picture patrons will be favored with some extra special features at Roman's Opera House during the next week.

Tomorrow (Friday) night, Wesley Barry, better known as "Freckles" will appear in that wonderful picture, "The Country Fair." Full of fun, laughs, and the funniest comedy on the boards today.

Thursday and Friday evening, September 14th and 15th, the greatest of all heart dramas, "Ten Nights in a Barroom." In this will be seen the best acting the world has ever known in the mightiest drama the world has ever produced. Don't forget the dates and come early. It.

Killian-Young

The marriage of Miss Susie Killian to Mr. Otto Young, both of this city, was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Price T. Smith officiating.

The bride is a beautiful young lady, her parents being called to the Great Beyond several years ago.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Young, and is a prosperous farmer. They will make their home in Lancaster. Their many friends wish them a long and happy life on the sea of matrimony.

Baker-Ross

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baker announce the marriage of Miss Emma Baker to Mr. Fred Ross on Saturday, Sept. 2, 1922. Miss Baker is a Garrard county girl and while she has never lived here altogether she has many friends and relatives in the county, who remember her visits during the various summers past and these will be interested in knowing about her marriage. Mr. Ross is a Canadian and is now located in Harlan, Ky., as a Coal Mining Engineer. Mr. and Mrs. Ross will make their home in Harlan, Ky.

Metcalfe-Wheeler

The marriage of Miss Bennie Metcalfe, of Paint Lick, Ky., and Mr. Jno. Wheeler, of Marshalltown, Iowa, was solemnized Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock in the marriage parlor, at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. J. A. MacClintock, of Richmond.

The impressive ceremony was said in the presence of Mrs. R. Z. Price, mother of the bride and Mrs. J. A. MacClintock.

Mrs. Wheeler is the youngest daughter of Mrs. R. Z. Price and a graduate of Berea College, while Mr. Wheeler is the son of Mrs. Sara M. Wheeler and is a partner of the Pilgrim Hotel Co., of Marshalltown.

Mr. Wheeler has won a great reward by making so long a journey to Kentucky, and will return soon to Marshalltown with his lovely bride where they will make their home.

Named at Mass Meeting of Members of Association Last Saturday

Candidates for delegates to elect a director for this district in the Burley Tobacco Association were named at a mass meeting held in the court house last Saturday afternoon. L. G. Davidson was named chairman of the meeting and Harry Rice served as secretary. Six delegates were named from which three will be chosen by ballot at the election Saturday, September 16th. Those named are as follows:

Shirley Hudson, R. L. Burton, Tandy Center, Angle Sanders, Talton May and J. M. Craig.

The election officers who will conduct polls for the election on September 16th, are W. R. Kelley, J. W. Sanders and G. A. Brown.

Legion to Elect Officers

The members of the Heidal Sanford Post No. 35 of Lancaster and Garrard county, will in a short time be called together to elect officers for the ensuing year. It is the desire of all Legionnaires in the county that when the word goes out to assemble to elect these officers that all service men in the county are urged to attend as the Heidal Sanford Post is known throughout the State as one of the best little posts to be found and in order to keep that record and still accomplish more work for the disabled veteran is to have a bunch of real live wires for the officers. Quite a few are even this early being mentioned and talked of as probable candidates for the different offices and all of them are capable of taking hold of the Legion affairs in this county and will "carry on" this great and honorable work. The Legionnaires of Lancaster are determined that this year will be the banner year for the local post and all service men, whether you have joined this post or not, are urgently requested to hold yourself in readiness and attend this, the most important of all meetings when the executive committee fully decides on the night for said election, as this will be a called meeting sent out by State headquarters.

Boy Buys Lot

We were in error when we stated last week that the Royston lot was purchased by Coy S. Sanders. It was really purchased by his son, Cecil, who has made his first payment, with money which he has earned, as agent for several daily papers. Cecil is a hustler, and as polite and manly little fellow as one ever meets.

Teachers' Meeting

About 75 teachers of the county met at the court house last Saturday afternoon at the call of Superintendent Abner, and incidentally to receive their checks for past services. An address by Mr. Keith, of the Eastern Kentucky Normal, on "Building Ideals," was greatly enjoyed and ably presented.

Community Fair

This office has just issued the catalogues for the Bryantsville Community Fair, which is to take place on Saturday, September 23rd. Nearly $500 in premiums is being offered and the catalogue is an interesting one. Everyone is planning to see this fair.

Pleasant Picnic

The Circle Girl members held a delightful and enjoyable picnic on the farm of J. E. Robinson last Thursday and during the day each member finished a certain piece of work, all of which will be sold at a bazaar to be held in December.

Good Meeting

Rev. I. W. Manley is in the midst of a great meeting at Mt. Hebron, with 17 additions already added to the church. The meeting will continue over Sunday.

There will be a pie supper Saturday night, Sept. 9th, at Antioch school house. Proceeds for benefit of school. Everybody is cordially invited.

The Schooler property that will be sold for the High Dollar on next Saturday, September 9th, at 3:30 P. M. is mighty desirable stuff.

FORD MOTOR CO.

Total Assets Nearly Four Hundred and Ten Million Dollars

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 2.—Total assets of the Ford Motor Company are $409,820,132.92, according to the annual financial statement filed this morning in the office of the Secretary of State in connection with the corporation tax returns of the concern that paid the maximum fee of $10,000. Of the holdings those in the State are valued at $215,415,662.92.

The statement is of June 30th, 1922, and the company's surplus is shown as $289,935,296.40.

The assets include cash on hand and in the bank, $145,985,669.31; plant land, improvements, buildings, fixtures and structures, $1,626,815.03 and machinery, tools and equipment, $39,531,079.34, and good will, $20,517,985.82. The Ford interests also made returns on the Dearborn Publishing Company and the Lincoln Motors Company.

The assets of the former are listed at $124,961.55, while a single item of $250,000 cash is shown as the total asset of Lincoln Motors.

What Rail Strikers

Are Forbidden to do

The injunction granted the United States Government against striking rail shopen Friday decreed, among others, the following things defendants may not do:

They may not parade or hold mass meetings to show how strong the striking organizations are.

They may not encourage, or command in any manner by letters, printed matter, telegrams, telephone, word of mouth, or suggestion, or through interviews published in newspapers or in any manner whatsoever, any person to abandon employment or refrain from working on any railroad.

They may not arrange with each other, or with any other person, to interfere with railroads in the performance of their lawful business.

They may not injure or annoy any employee, either while performing his duties or at any other time.

The may not threaten, intimidate, commit acts of violence, apply opprobrious epithets, jeers, suggestions of danger, taunts or entreaties toward any railway employee or officer.

They may not loiter near employees' place of work.

They may not aid, abet, direct or encourage any person or organization by letter, telegram, telephone, word of mouth or otherwise to do any of the above acts.

They may not go singly or collectively to the home of any railroad employee to intimidate, threaten or coerce the employee or any member of his family.

They may not encourage, direct or command in any manner, by letters, printed circulars, telegrams or advertisements; employees to abandon positions with the railroads.

They may not use, cause or consent to the use of any funds of their labor organizations to promote any of the acts above.

What Does

"Subluxation"

Mean?

When a nerve is pressed upon by a vertebra in the spinal column it is called a subluxation of the vertebra.

The Chiropractor by adjusting this subluxated vertebra, relieves the pressure on the nerve which runs through it; by so doing he gives nature a chance to build up the affected part of the body.

Life energy is nerve energy. Stop the normal flow of nerve energy and the life force is hindered.

The Chiropractor relieves the pressure on the nerves—the life force flows freely—normally. (1t)

Why Not

Something New?

What forms of amusement will we adopt in this town during the coming winter months?

Why not something new?

When you have seen a play once you have seen it enough. Sitting through a second performance is wearisome and time wasted. It loses its novelty.

The usual round of socials and parties is much the same. People go and perform the same old threadbare stunts simply because they must have some form of recreation and amusement.

The same diet if partaken of continually becomes nauseating. The stomach craves a change.

It is so with the mind. Without a change of mental stimulant the mind becomes stale and clogged and does not function to best advantage.

Something new is what we need, something that will induce each of us to look forward to the good times coming.

Why not form a local committee whose duty it will be to provide forms of public amusement that have never been thought of or tried before?

When half a dozen brainy heads get together an original stunt is generally the result.

Who owns those half dozen heads in this town?

Why not set them to work?

Why not a winter of real enjoyment instead of one of mere existence?

What do you say?

Something Good Ahead

We accept the prediction of financial writers and prophets that better times are ahead, but we would like to know how far away they are.

Optimism is our creed, because it is to the optimists we must look for restoring the world and our particular portion thereof to something near the stability of pre-war days.

This old globe is in a sad state of confusion, bordering almost upon collapse, but there is comfort in the fact that it might be worse. There is even encouragement in the fact that conditions generally are steadily improving.

Something good ahead!

Let us make that a slogan, and labor unitedly and unceasingly until we can triumphantly announce that "something good is ahead."

Our numerous strikes and idle trains and shut down mines and all of the other annoyances have a tendency to create a spirit of pessimism in even the stoutest of hearts.

But pessimism does not do a lot of harm.

A strong heart surmounts many difficulties before it accomplishes its purpose, but in the end it prevails where the weak heart falls by the wayside.

Yes, there is something good ahead.

Let's get it.

Strive Always to Help.

Nerve us with incessant affirmatives. Don't waste yourself in rejection, nor bark against the bad, but chant the beauty of the good. When that is spoken which has a right to be spoken the chatter and the criticism will stop. Set down nothing that will not help somebody. —Emerson.

LIVE STOCK

MANY ADVANTAGES OF SHEEP

Animals Are Quite Useful in Keeping Farm Free From Weeds—Good Meat Producers.

While many farmers flock from one line of farming to another, according as prices have been high or low the season previous, the successful farmer usually sticks to some well-tried program whether conditions appear to be favorable or otherwise. The great majority of these successful men recommend the keeping of at least a few sheep upon the farm.

They emphasize that sheep are helpful in keeping the farm clean of weeds. They also consume much material that would otherwise go to waste. These farmers point out, too, that these animals can be comfortably kept in comparatively inexpensive buildings. The two main requirements in housing are protection from winds and freedom from moisture.

These animals enable the farmer to better distribute his labor because they require the most attention in the winter time when help is most plentiful and cheap. As meat producers sheep require about as little food as any other animal for the production of a pound of gain.

Mutton May Be Sold at All Seasons.

Finally, the income from the flock is fairly well distributed over the year. Wool is sold in the early summer when money is much needed, lambs are disposed of in the fall and winter, while breeding stock and mutton may be sold at practically all seasons.

BANKS AID PUREBRED SIRES

Virginia Farmers Given Opportunity to Improve Live Stock by Local Bankers.

The banks of Charlottesville, Va., are co-operating with farmers of the surrounding county in obtaining purebred sires. According to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture, if a farmer will sell his grade or scrub sires and purchase purebred animals, the banks supply the necessary funds to cover the purchase of the purebred sire over the amount received for the inferior animal. The loan is made on the basis of a year's time.

Sentiment among bankers regarding the use of purebred live stock in practical farming operations appears to be growing more favorable, and the attitude of the Charlottesville banks is evidence of this point. Purebred sires of good quality, as shown by information obtained by the bureau of animal industry, increase the earning power of herds and flocks in which they are used.

CYLINDER OIL HELPS SWINE

Ames Specialists Declare It Is Safe for Hogs, Except Those With Delicate Skin.

Old oil from automobile crank cases can be used for oiling hogs, say the animal husbandrymen at Iowa State college. Although some people are skeptical about using this sort of oil, the Ames men declare that it is safe, except possibly in the case of white hogs, which have a delicate skin that sometimes blisters through the use of the oil.

The oil should be allowed to stand for a while in order to allow the fine particles of metal to settle out. The surface oil may then be poured off and used in the hog oilers. The sediment should be discarded.

Alfalfa for Horses.

Alfalfa hay can be successfully fed to work horses provided some other hay such as timothy is fed once a day. If alfalfa hay is fed the grain ration can be reduced very materially when these horses are not at work.

Start Young Pig Right.

The life and future value of the young pig is absolutely in its owner's hands. Stunt it at the start and it goes through life a runt. Start it right and it will be a big, healthy hog.

Those who have been attending the revival services at Mt. Hebron from here have been very much pleased with the strong Bible messages that Rev. Degamo is delivering to the people.

The Ladies Working Society will give an Ice Cream Supper Thursday evening, Sept. 7th., on the lawn of Mrs. A. J. Rice. Admission, 25cts. Everybody invited. Serving will begin at six o'clock.

Turpentine the Pine.

Successive seasons of turpentine cause no lowering in strength or resin content of pine trees, states the forest products laboratory of Wisconsin. The crude turpentine is the result of wound stimulus, and comes only from living cells in the sap wood region of the tap bore. The heart wood, which consists of dead cells, contains no sap.—Scientific American.

Origin of "Publican."

In England the keeper of a public house came to be called a publican and he was probably so-called because he put a tax as it were on travelers and perhaps sometimes extorted and the term publican got so fixed in the speech of the people that it found its place in the law and under English statutes the term publican included inn-keepers, hotel-keepers, keepers of ale-houses and wine vaults, etc. We speak today of a hotel keeper as a publican, or a Boniface, or mine host.

Favorite Stones of the Past.

Rings of the Middle Ages had turquoise and emeralds as favorite stones and in that age of chivalry it was but natural that the coat of arms on rings should become the fashion. In the Renaissance, diamonds were used for the first time. The cuttings were very rough, the tools of jewelers being crude, and for softer stones, more easily cut or carved. Then appeared the emerald ornamentation, and some of the rings of those days contained miniature perfume boxes.

Excellent Varnish Stain.

For the oak-colored floor ingenuity will save the pocket. A tin of Japan black—such as one uses for stoves and ironwork—diluted to the requisite color and consistency with methylated spirits, gives the most beautiful oak varnish stain possible at very little cost. A floor already stained but grown shabby will revive to perfection if well washed and treated to a coat of this last-named mixture.

The Thousand Islands.

The beauties of the St. Lawrence river were first seen by a white man when Jacques Cartier, on a voyage of exploration, happened on the stream in 1535. It was not until 1615, however, that the region of Alexandria bay was discovered. In that year Champlain traveled up this part of the river. About 1750 the French began to realize its wonders and christened it Les Mille Isles.

HAVING DECIDED TO SELL OUR PLACE, AT HYATTSVILLE, KY., WE WILL OFFER SAME AT PUBLIC AUCTION, ON

Friday, Sept 15th
AT 2:30 O'CLOCK

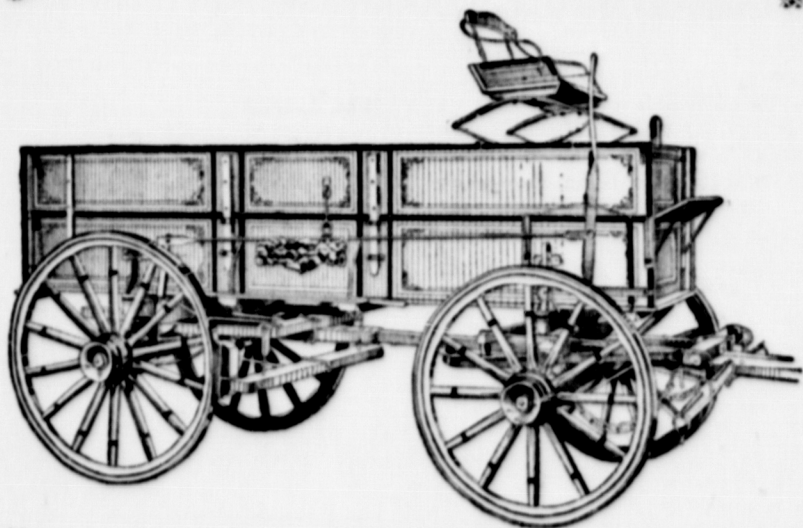

This place is located at Hyattsville, three miles from Lancaster, on the Richmond road, facing the best pike in the county.

The home is modern in every way, being completely equipped with water and heated by steam, bath room, and everything new and modern, having been built within the last few years. The improvements consist of all necessary out-buildings, with one of the best young orchards in Garrard county.

There are fifteen acres of land with the place, all lying well and in good state of cultivation. The home is now being occupied by Millard Criscillis, who will gladly show any one who cares to see the place before date of sale.

TERMS OF SALE: Ten per cent cash day of sale; twenty-three and one-third per cent, January 1st, 1923, when possession will be given and deed made; balance in one and two years.

Beans in Corn Build Up Soils at Low Cost

With corn and soybeans in the best stage for hogging off in practically all parts of the state, many Kentucky farmers are finding that growing the beans in the same row with corn offers a means of bringing about considerable soil improvement at small cost. Results being obtained by farmers in all sections of the state who co-operated with the extension division of the College of Agriculture in conducting demonstrations on their farms show that nitrogen valued as high as $11.50 was obtained through the use of about 30 cents worth of bean seed.

The highest value in nitrogen produced during the summer that has been reported up to the present time was the $11.50 worth obtained by H. J. Miller, a Warren county farmer, who lives near Bowling Green. Another farmer in the same county, who grew beans in corn, obtained $5.44 worth of nitrogen from each acre of his beans while a third Warren county farmer, R. H. Meng, had soybeans that produced $8.16 worth of nitrogen an acre. Howard Meng, of the same county, obtained $6.46 worth of nitrogen from each acre of beans which he grew with corn.

Good stands of beans were obtained in each of these four cases despite the fact that the soybeans were grown with corn. In addition, each farmer reported that the yield of his corn had been reduced little if any by the beans. The stand of beans was heaviest on the farm of Mr. Miller, where five bean stalks were found to every one of corn. Eighty per cent of the nitrogen produced, which is the most expensive plant food element required by Kentucky soils, will be returned to the land when the beans and corn are hogged down. In addition, it is estimated that the beans growing in the corn are hogged down. In addition, it is estimated that the beans growing in the corn will produce 150 pounds more of pork an acre than is obtained when corn alone is hogged down.

The amount of nitrogen produced in the bean yield on each farm was determined from the fact that each 1,000 pounds of green beans contain about 6.8 pounds of nitrogen which was valued at 20 cents a pound. Two-thirds of this expensive plant food element was taken from the air, soils and crops specialists estimate. The amount of digestible feed produced by beans and corn growing together is said to be ten per cent higher than that produced when the beans and corn are grown separately.

WOMAN REFUSES TO BECOME OLD

Mrs. Crawford of North Carolina Enters Columbia University at Age of Seventy-One

GRANDSON JUST GRADUATED

This Mentally Alert Grandmother Went to Vassar More Than Half a Century Ago, but Declares There is No End to Growth

New York—At seventy-one Mrs. A. P. Crawford, of Greensboro, N. C., has entered the summer session of Columbia university as a student. College graduate and Vassar student more than half a century ago, and mother of six, Mrs. Crawford is studying in order that she may keep mentally alert and up-to-date, which, she says, is the real secret of youth. She is Columbia's oldest student.

"There is no need to grow old, mentally at least," said Mrs. Crawford, who is living at 420 West 119th street during her stay here. "Stagnation and intolerance are one's greatest foes in keeping young. These changing times demand new viewpoints, and the woman of today must keep herself well informed. It is her duty as a citizen."

Mrs. Crawford sees nothing unusual in "going to school" at her age, explaining that she "lost her job" when her children grew up and established themselves, and in her long, busy life she has never had as much leisure as she would like for reading and study. Three of her five sons are teachers, another is a merchant in Winston-Salem, N. C., and the fifth is connected with the Reynolds Tobacco company in that city.

Grandson Just Graduated

A grandson, R. B. Crawford, was graduated from the University of North Carolina last June. Her son, L. W. Crawford, is assistant director of the summer session at Columbia, Richard M. is teaching at William and Mary college in Virginia and F. M. Crawford is an instructor in the high school at Girard, Ohio.

Mrs. Crawford was a teacher herself for two years after graduation from the Greensboro College for Women in 1869, and a year of study at Vassar, then just four years old. Marriage to a Methodist clergyman interrupted her work and brought with it home duties and parish work, but she was always an ardent reader, and kept herself young, she believes, by striving always to be intellectually awake, keeping herself in constant association with young people and safe-guarding her health with judicious exercise and simple rules of hygiene.

"There is no end to growth," she declares energetically. Her six weeks' study here she will use, she explained, as a basis for her reading during the winter months at home. Philosophy and literature interest her most. Comparative literature and Professor Montague's course in radical, conservative and reactionary tendencies in present-day morals are the subjects she is taking up here.

Doesn't Condemn Flappers

Asked her opinion of the modern "flapper," she replied that the term was used so indiscriminately that she was not sure of its meaning, but that she did not condemn the young girls of today for reaching out toward freer, broader lives. Girls of today do not study so hard as they used, she said, but have a broader and more intelligent outlook than the school girls of her generation. But no one has any excuse for narrowness and stagnation today, she declared, because knowledge has been made so accessible in our schools, libraries and the wealth of periodicals in this country.

Her physical youthfulness Mrs. Crawford attributes to a life full of activity, plenty of outdoor exercise and obedience to the fundamental laws of hygiene. In Greensboro she lives with her daughter, whose two little girls, seven and eight, are "keeping up with grandmother" by good records in school.

American Legion News

The life of the World War fighter on land and sea and in the air will be portrayed in the entertainment program for visitors to the American Legion national convention in New Orleans, October 16th. to 20th., according to plans of the convention entertainment committee.

Amusements ranging from placid French village scenes to great naval and aerial displays will be arranged to entertain the ex-service visitors. Three large downtown squares will be used for street dancing and the scheme of decoration will be in imitation of the well known French village squares. There will be the familiar tables lining the sidewalks and refreshments will be served by waiters in appropriate costumes.

Cruisers, destroyers, eagle boats and submarine chasers will represent the United States Navy in the convention naval show. A fleet of one cruiser and six destroyers has been ordered to the convention by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, and invitations have been sent to England, France, Italy and other Allied powers to send battleships. A fleet of twelve United States Navy hydroplanes will fly from Pensacola to New Orleans for exhibition during convention week. On one of the convention nights the planes will fly over the business district, dropping flares and smoke bombs as a reminder of the air raids made by German planes over the American trenches an dillots.

The "Pike" at the famous Spanish Fort amusement park is to be dressed in Mardi Gras garb. The dance pavilion redecorated for the week after the fashion of Creole days, will vary its modern dance program with exhibition dances of the minuet and Virginia reel. Music will be provided by the New Orleans Marine Corps band. An elaborate display of fireworks will be one of the features at the park. A number of pieces will be reconstructed battle scenes.

Three large halls will be scenes of carnival balls, similar to those held during the Mardi Gras season. Elaborate preparations are being made and special costumes designed for the balls, which will take place on the second night of the convention.

One of the most spectacular sights during convention week will be the parade of 50,000 Legionnaires on the afternoon of October 18th. The marches will be accompanied by 100 bands and crack fife and drum corps interspersed at various points in the parade.

Special programs for convention week are scheduled at the vaudeville houses and motion picture theatres. Thomas H. Ince will release a war film entitled "Blood Bon." It will be shown for the first time under auspices of the Legion.

BOYLE COUNTY COMMISSIONER'S

PUBLIC SALE

BOYLE CIRCUIT COURT

On Saturday, September 16th, 1922

AT TEN O'CLOCK A. M.

ROBERT G. EVANS

Plaintiff

ROBERT RANKIN and Others

Defendants

Pursuant to judgment of Boyle Circuit Court, I shall offer for sale at public auction, at the residence on Tract 3, known as "Lee Farm," the 840 acres of best quality blue grass land in Boyle county, located on inter-county seat highway, Danville and Perryville pike, 3 1-2 miles from Danville, county seat of Boyle county, and five miles from Perryville, and known as the Robert Evans Salt River Farm. This farm is well improved, well watered, well fenced, has silos, tobacco barns, stock barns, three commodious main dwelling houses, and four good tenant houses. It is conveniently located, and accessible to L. & N., Southern and C. N. O. & T. P. Railways. Good county school within one-fourth of a mile of lands, and Danville is the seat of Centre College, Kentucky College for Women and has excellent High and Graded Schools. Lands have been plotted and will be offered in four tracts, to suit purchasers, and as a whole.

TRACT No. 1—204.1 acres, known as Moore farm, fronting on Danville and Perryville pike, has splendid colonial 8-room, 2-story frame dwelling, good cellar, two cisterns, three fine wells, running water (two good springs), 11 acre tobacco barn, stock barn about 60x60, ice house and desirable outbuildings.

TRACT No. 2—120.1 acres, known as Beddow farm, lies just east of Tract No. 1, fronts on Danville and Perryville pike; has 7-room frame 2-story building; two wells and cistern, good never failing spring; 4-acre tobacco barn; necessary outbuildings, splendid orchard.

TRACT No. 3—336.9 acres, known as Lee farm, lies just south of Tract No. 1. It has stone stucco 7-room dwelling, commodious porches and halls; is watered by cistern and three wells, spring and Salt River; fronts on Scudder school pike (good pike connecting Perryville and Lebanon turnpikes), has large work stock barn, granary with stock sheds; two large cribs, 700 bbls. capacity, scales, carriage house, work shop, cattle barn, 150 head capacity, with two cribs holding 300 bbls. corn, two silos (good well between silos), two tobacco barns, 11 acres each capacity, and three good tenant houses.

TRACT No. 4—176.7 acres, fronting on Tarkington county road, lies west and south of Tract No. 3. It has 3-room cottage, 12-acre tobacco barn, is watered by spring, well and Salt River, and has enough timber to be sawed for another barn and dwelling.

The above lands are easily of the finest and best located in Central Kentucky, contain a large quantity of virgin soil, have good standing timber, and all good tobacco land. I shall first offer Tract No. 1, then No. 2, then No. 3, then Tract No. 4. Then I am authorized to offer the four tracts as a whole and shall accept that bid or bids that will realize the most money. This property will be sold on a credit of 6 and 12 months, the purchaser or purchasers shall execute bonds with surety to be approved by the Commissioner payable to the Commissioner; one bond shall be for one-half of the purchase money and payable six months after date and the second bond shall be for the remaining one-half of the purchase money and payable twelve months after date, all bonds to bear 6 per cent interest from their date until paid and to have the force and effect of a judgment.

The London policeman tapped the sleeper on the soles of the boots. There was no response. He shook him. The man's head lolled back on the bench.

"Blimey, he's dead!" he muttered. But, as he stared into the yellow face, an awful awakening seemed to occur. The man sat up stiffly, staring about him.

"Hi! You can't sleep there!" said the policeman. "Get off or I'll have to run you in!"

He stared after the man as he tottered away. "Blimey, he did give me a scare!" he said.

The sailor entered the Salvation Army shelter and went to the bunk assigned to him. A little man with a white beard, lying in the next bunk, stared at him.

"Where are you from, matey?" he asked.

"New York, if you gotta know," snarled the other.

"Sailor, ain't ye?"

"Ha, I guess you'd like to know, wouldn't ya?" the newcomer snarled. "I put it over on 'em, all right, all right."

"What's that? Put what over who?" demanded the little old man.

"To-morrow at eight," answered the sailor, still with the snarl, half ferocity and half timidity, in his voice. He clutched the other by the arm. "Listen! To-morrow, at eight, they'll come for me, to take me for a nice little walk through a nice little door, and put me in a nice little chair—a chair with arms. And—they won't find me! Get that, bo?"

"I dunno what you're talking about," whimpered the little old man. "I'm afraid of you."

"You might as well be, bo. I ain't a dead man and I ain't exactly alive. Listen, here! I'll tell you. Gawd, I gotta tell some one!"

"Tell me," whispered the little old man.

"I'll tell you. I didn't kill her. They thought it was me, but it was only my hand. I had no control over it. It was my hand that hit her with the hammer, only they thought it was me, and that's why they wanted to send me to the chair with the arms—see?"

"I'd been a student afore they sent me there; a student of the Indian sciences. I ain't what you think I am. That's the body I took. It ain't me. I'm an eddicated man—understand?"

"I'm afraid of you. You look like a dead man," whimpered the other.

The sailor laughed. "And, when I was in the cell waiting to be sent to the chair with the arms, I applied lesson seven of the book—concentration. I got out of my body by night and went wandering all over the world, looking for a man who was ready to cash in."

"There was one on the Thames embankment, just ready to drop off with heart disease. He didn't know. Nobody knewed it but me. I saw him in my cell as plain as I see you now."

"Then it was lesson eight of the book for mine. I'd studied and studied, and practiced and practiced till I was all ready to slip out of my sheath. It was as quick as a flash. I seed his soul going out of his body—one, two, like this—"

"You're crazy," said the little old man. "You're crazy. I'm afraid of you. I don't want you to talk to me no more."

"You're going to hear it," snarled the sailor. "You gotta hear it now. The minute he passed out I slipped in—one, two—like that. I left my old carcass lying asleep in the cell, waiting for the warders to carry it through the nice little door into the nice little room at eight o'clock to-morrow. And here am I."

"I dunno as I mightn't have picked a better body, being an eddicated man, and things has got sort of confused, but I'll remember in time, I guess. Ho! ho! ho!" He roared in laughter. "They'll think it's me to-morrow at eight in the morning. They'll have another guess coming, though."

"Don't you talk to me no more," whimpered the little old man. "I'm afraid of you. I'm going to sleep, I am."

"Eight o'clock, boys! Turn out!" shouted the attendant.

As the clock struck, for a moment a look of fear came over the sailor's face; then he laughed. "I guess I fooled 'em," he said. "Which way you going, bo?"

"I'm going east, but I'm going alone," piped the little old man.

"I'm going with you till two o'clock," said the sailor. "You come along of me. I may want you at two."

They started off and walked side by side out of London, into Epping forest. They sat down on a trunk. It was two in the afternoon.

"You—you was lying, wasn't you?" piped the little old man.

"Course I was lying," snarled the other. "I'll stick by you. You're a good sort, bo. I'll—"

Suddenly, with an inhuman scream, he seemed to stiffen, his muscles strained as if against bonds; his body sagged and fell forward.

"He's dead," piped the little old man. "He's dead. The devil's got him."

And he started running at full speed into the forest.

When Trouble Comes

By ELLA SAUNDERS

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union

Sawyer was ruined. The combine that he had hoped to smash had smashed him beyond repair. He had hung up the telephone in his office for the last time.

Mechanically he put on his hat and went out. Everybody knew. The clerks and typists had received their two weeks' pay in advance, with notice. There was a subtle change in their demeanor. They no longer bent over their work when Sawyer passed. They were gossiping insolently about him. The office boy forgot to open the door. Why should he? He was no longer in Sawyer's employment.

The negro elevator boy grinned at Sawyer when he took him down. Sawyer was finished. There was probably no last tip in Sawyer's pocket for him. There wasn't. Sawyer passed out into the hall.

His eyes lit up as a beautiful, fashionably dressed lady came toward him. This was Miss Eaton—a very intimate friend, perhaps his most intimate. There was a strange look on her face.

"What's this I hear about you, Jim?" she asked.

"It's true, whatever you've heard, Helen," Sawyer answered. "I'm blown up, finished."

She stared at him incredulously. "And what are you going to do about me?" she asked.

Sawyer drew her into an alcove, away from prying eyes. "Listen, Helen, I've five thousand left," he said. "I might raise five thousand more. Will you come away with me to that little paradise of an isle we've spoken of?"

Miss Eaton tossed her head contemptuously. "Well, I guess not!" she answered. "No love in a tropical cottage for mine, thanks!"

And Sawyer quailed before her contempt. This struck him more bitterly than anything in the world.

"What are you going to do for me?" Miss Eaton continued. "How's my allowance going on?"

Sawyer turned on her fiercely. "It isn't!" he answered. "You've swallowed every penny of mine you're going to have."

She began pleading, threatening. Sawyer cast her off with contempt. She flung a vicious phrase at him and passed out of the building.

Sawyer went to the telephone booth and called up his wife's lawyers. "Tell Mrs. Sawyer that her suit will not be contested," he said. "This is James Sawyer speaking."

He went home to his lonely apartment. It was three months since his wife had found out about Miss Eaton and left him. But Miss Eaton was only the last of a long series of loves. Sawyer sat down and began thinking.

He had been married eighteen years. At first he and Marian had loved each other, but that was when he was a fifteen-dollar clerk and they had a three-room apartment uptown. Those days seemed very fair to look back upon now. He had been happier with her there than at any time afterward when they lived in luxury. They had been so fond of Tom, their only child—Tom who had turned out bad and disappeared years before.

That had severed the last bond between them. Sawyer had been surprised when Marian left him. He had not thought that she would mind about Miss Eaton. He had even thought she had known. But what a fool a man was to follow false lures!

He sat alone in his study. The servants were expecting notice, there was only the man and man relationship between them now. He had always known there was hate beneath the man's smooth exterior.

Well, there was only one thing for it. A man could not live alone, and Sawyer had not even a dog. He opened a little drawer in his desk, took out something shining—some one was in the hall. He replaced it hastily. The door opened. Marian stood in the room. She came forward. "You're ruined, Jim?"

"That's right, Marian. I've told Heath & Hodges not to contest your suit. I'm sorry it'll have to go so hard with you."

Marian came slowly toward him. Her lips trembled.

"And I—I've told Heath & Hodges not to proceed," she said. "Oh, my dear, my dear, let me comfort you!"

She knelt at his side. "Let us forgive each other," she whispered. "When trouble comes whom should I stand by but you? I've failed, too, failed you in my love. We've got what we deserved. Do you remember the—the little flat uptown in the old days? Let's go back and begin all over again. We're young enough—with love."

Sawyer snapped the drawer that held the shining thing into position. He drew his wife into his arms. "Trouble's gone," he answered. "Nothing can ever trouble us again."

Preparedness.

Brother Joe came forward to be baptized.

The parson said: "Yoh done been baptized twelve times. Jo. An' again you come fo'ward into de fold. Ain't dat de truf, dat yoh has been baptized befoh?"

"Dat's de truf," said Brother Joe. "How often do you expect to be baptized, I ax yoh?"

"I reckon every yeah," said Brother Joe. "De oftener I gets dlah mortal clay soaked, de safer I'll sure be from de sparks on de great day when de world am all on fire. Hallelujah!"

Pimples Keep Young Men Down!

They Make Women, Too, a Puzzle! How S. S. S. Stops Skin Eruptions Positively.

Pimples and skin eruptions have a price—you pay for every pustule, black-head and pimple on your face. Pimples produce prejudice and prevent prosperity. Your heart may be gold, but who wants to kiss eruptions? Pimples don't look like the owners of anything. Pimple women, too, are puzzles, with no prospects and no power. Young men and women, here's the positive way out. Physics and purgatives will fail. What you need is a scientific blood-cleanser. S. S. S. is one of the most powerful destroyers of blood impurities. You can prove this in a short time. S. S. S. has been named on by a jury of millions of people just like yourself. It is considered one of the most powerful vegetable blood-purifiers and flesh-builders in existence. That's why you hear of so many underweight people putting on lost flesh in a hurry, why you hear of so many rheumatics being freed from this scourge, with S. S. S. Start today with S. S. S. and see your face clear and your skin get ruddier, your flesh firmer. It will give you a boost in your career. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

S. S. S. Will Rid You of the Crushing Pimple-Calamity.

General Grant's Boyhood.

Ulysses Grant was what was called in the neighborhood of Georgetown, O., where he lived from his second year until he was sent to West Point academy, "a horsey boy." He liked horses—liked to ride and drive them and to work with them. A horsey boy was not expected to take kindly to books, and Ulysses was behind most of the boys of his age in the school at Georgetown, except only in arithmetic. Teachers at that time gave their pupils mental arithmetic before they took up the written work, and in doing the problems given the classes in mental arithmetic young Grant proved a star.

Elephant Sprinters.

In spite of the great bulk and lumbering gait, the elephant has been known to exceed 15 miles an hour and to have kept up a rate of ten miles an hour for a long time. It is said that an elephant does not reach proper maturity until it is 40 years old, and that it may live for over a century. Darwin calculated that after a period of 750 years, if breeding were not interfered with, there would be 19,000,000 elephants alive, descended from a single pair. The tusks which are the weapons of the males in their furious combats, are used by both sexes in everyday life for digging up roots for food.

FOR CONGRESS
HON. RALPH GILBERT

Henry Ford recently announced that he would close his great automobile works because the steel trust wants to rob him in the price of the raw material that goes into the construction of his cars. He asserts that he will not be a party to such profiteering.

Although the closing of the Ford industry will bring hardships to millions of people, the stand taken by Mr. Ford is commendable.

As long as the American people meekly submit to being robbed the robbers will pluck them to the bone.

And even the bone may soon disappear along with the pound of flesh.

If two valuable animals were fighting at death grips any person of intelligence would endeavor to separate them and preserve the usefulness of both.

The railroads and the coal mines and their employees are in just that condition of antagonism, with the entire nation facing appalling disaster as a result of the struggle.

Have we no public officials with sense and courage enough to step in and arbitrarily settle the strife in fairness to both sides?

Or is the welfare of the American people of less consequence than that of an animal?

Some people say that politeness costs nothing. But is that entirely true?

It is possible that a chronic grouch may at times assume a certain degree of courtesy, but it is invariably at the cost of a tremendous effort.

His natural inclination is to growl, and grumble, and snarl, and such people invariably follow the bent of their inclinations. To suddenly assume an attitude of politeness is foreign to his nature. It requires an effort, and no effort is without its cost.

But the greater the cost the more precious the jewel.

Give the polite grouch the credit that is his due.

We all have our faults, but in our own eyes they are generally considered to be virtues.

When commenting upon the delinquencies of our neighbors it might be well to consider that what we term his faults he may deem to be virtues.

It is difficult at times to understand our own minds, and quite impossible to follow the minds of others.

For this reason it is possible that in judging the other fellow we may lay ourselves open to being judged even more harshly by him, and with some measure of justice.

Popularity speaking, charity begins at home, but from a practical standpoint there is little to be found in many of our modern domiciles.

A man will growl at his wife for some trivial act that is readily excused in another woman, while many a husband is roundly condemned for what is promptly condoned in other men.

It's a queer world, and some of us are even more so.

When you hear a windbag blowing off in public don't believe everything he says. He doesn't believe the half of it himself.

And when making a big noise yourself be careful of what you say, or others may hang a windy label onto you.

Some people believe in the prompt payment of debts, especially when they are coming to them. We are of the same, with a good many coming our way.

Baptist Church News

The first issue of our church paper, the Lancaster Baptist, is in our hands for distribution and we hope that every member will apply for a copy. The price for this issue is ten cents a copy, or $1.00 a year. The paper will be published monthly.

Our revival services will begin next Sunday. The hour of service has been moved up fifteen minutes, so that Sunday school now begins at 9:45, followed by preaching service, at 10:45.

The Juniors meet at 6:15. The song service begins at 7:30 P. M., followed by preaching service.

The pastor will preach next Sunday morning and evening. Brother Martin will arrive Monday and will preach every night during the services. The hours for day meetings will be announced next week.

The success of the meetings is in the hands of the membership of the church. Their co-operation in prayer and in attendance will assure a large measure of blessing, but failure to work and pray will defeat the most effective evangelist. Shall we not plan our work so that we can not only attend the services ourselves, but make a special effort to have others attend. The politician gives liberally of his time and money to secure votes for his favorite candidate, shall we do less to enlist others in the service of our Master?

A welcome is extended to all to attend our services.

FINE POSITION

The Rev. Henry N. Faulconer
Contracts with 'Anti-Saloon League for Sixteen
Months at $100
Per Day

The Rev. Henry N. Faulconer, formerly of Danville, but now of Hillsboro, Ohio, has just contracted with the Anti-Saloon League of America, to deliver a lecture a day for the next sixteen months at $100 per day. The Reverend Faulconer has been preaching in Lexington for the past several months and has given eminent satisfaction. He has been, in fact, drawing large and well pleased audiences to hear his masterful sermons. He is one of the greatest pulpits orators of the country. He has given much of his time in the past to revival services and has made a wonderful success in the field. Rev. Faulconer's many warm friends and relatives in Danville and Central Kentucky will read with delight that he has accepted such a fine offer and the Anti-Saloon League is to be congratulated upon securing the services of such an able advocate. Rev. Faulconer's wife was Miss Marguerite Mason of Lancaster, one of the most beautiful women in Central Kentucky. They have eight most charming children, two of whom have recently visited Danville. Miss Joe Faulconer, who was one of the most attractive girls upon the Centre Ball room floor last June is now studying designing in New York City, having been fortunate enough to have been engaged by one of the largest concerns in the Metropolis. Miss Margaret Faulconer, who has shown great talent in the movie field has only recently been offered a very flattering contract to go to California to enter the movie field, but her parents have vetoed this. It may be that she will enter the Ft. Lee, New Jersey field, where the environment is more inviting than at Hollywood, Calif.—Danville Advocate.

Christian Church News

The annual Go-Away to College services will be held at the Lancaster Christian church next Sunday morning. All young people who are going away to college for the first time or who are returning after one or more years in college are invited to be the special guests of the congregation on that occasion. The church would honor her young people and would have them leave home fully aware of the prayers and good wishes of the home church as they go out to prepare themselves the better for life's activities. A sermon in keeping with the occasion will be preached and all who will come are invited to be present.

All is in readiness for the two-day County Convention of the Christian churches which meets at Fairview next Monday, Sept. 11th. An excellent program has been arranged. N. K. McGowan, State S. S. Superintendent, will be present; also J. S. Hilton, Secretary and Treasurer of the Orphan's Home at Louisville; also a representative from the College of the Bible, possibly Prof. C. L. Pyatt, who recently preached at Lancaster; also a State Worker of the Women's Missionary Society, possibly Mrs. Louise Loos Campbell. All in all, the program will be eminently worth while. Fairview wants to be hostess to a large crowd and it is hoped that all congregations in the county will send large delegations.

The CALORIC HEATS THEM ALL

Homes, stores, churches, factories—all over the country—are being heated more comfortably and at less cost with the Caloric pipeless furnace.

The Caloric delivers practically 100% of the heat from the fuel directly into your rooms, and at the same time withdraws the cool air from the building. This establishes a natural air circulation, with the result that the building is heated more uniformly and fuel consumption is cut 1/3 to 1/2. There are now

OVER 135,000 CALORIC USERS

—in every state in the Union, in Canada, Alaska—and many in this locality.

Here a word of warning. Caloric success has been so revolutionary that it has aroused opposition from those who profit from making and selling out-of-date heating systems. The result is that many imitation pipeless furnaces have been put out which are failures. Be not misled by these failures. Most of them were designed to be failures—and have been marketed in vain attempts to discredit the rapidly-growing Caloric idea.

The Caloric is a 100% success—proven so by its record through years of making good—and by the guarantee of "satisfaction or money back" under which we sell it.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Gulley have moved in the Tomlinson property on Richmond street, which they recently purchased. The home they vacated is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tomlinson.

Miss Allie Arnold, who has been spending a month with her sister, Mrs. Joe Francis and Miss Mary Arnold, left Sunday for Colorado Springs, where she will instruct pupils in the school for the Deaf.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor and daughters, Misses Ruth and Louise, will accompany Mr. Jim Arnold home in Columbia, S. C., and will make their home there. Lancaster friends regret the departure of this splendid family.

Word has been received of the critical illness of Mr. John Walker at his home in Hillhouse, Miss. The last report was that he was some better and his many Lancaster friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Miss Helen Gulley entertained Saturday evening with a "slumberless party" with the following guests: Misses Margaret Hughes, of Louisville, Hazel Champ, Margaret Elliott, Eugenia Dunlap and Lama Dunn, of Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hughes, of Louisville, motored to Lancaster for the week-end. They were accompanied home by their daughter, Miss Margaret Hughes, who has been visiting here, and Mrs. Cora Miller, who will make a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Hughes.

Mrs. Langley entertained Saturday evening at her home in "Haselden Heights" in honor of Miss Arabella Williams, who has been spending the summer with her aunt, Miss Rebecca Williams. Delicious refreshments were served. The affair proved a most enjoyable one.

Mrs. E. L. Owsley entertained Saturday evening with a picture show party at the Roman's Opera House. After the show refreshments were served at Storms Drug Store. The guests were Mrs. Ada Kinnaird, of Louisville; Miss Allie Arnold, of Colorado Springs; Miss Mary Arnold; Miss Kate Kinnaird and Miss Lillian Kinnaird.

Robert Hays, of Lancaster, formerly of Winchester, has been made eighth district member of the committee of Americanization at the American Legion conference at Glasgow. Mr. Hays is the son of Judge J. Smith Hays, of this city, and is a member of the Kentucky bar, practicing at Lancaster.—Winchester cor; Lexington Herald.

The dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Elmore at their home on Danville avenue in honor of the bridal party of the Elmore-Billings wedding was a pretty social affair of the season. The table was beautifully decorated in late summer flowers and a delicious five course menu served. After the dinner the guests went to the Christian church for rehearsal.

Miss Nannie M. Wood, 20 years old, only daughter of Mr. Will Wood, of this city, was married the past week to Mr. William L. Fredrick, 21 years old, a sign painter of Shelbyville. The marriage took place in Jeffersonville, Ind., one of the local ministers officiating. The couple are quite popular and the announcement will be read with great interest. They will reside in Louisville.

The following girls and boys will leave this week for schools: Miss Martha Ward Sweeney, to Randolph-Macon, at Lynchburg, Va.; Miss Cecil Batson, at Staunton, Va.; Mrs. Swinebroad at Staunton, Va.; Miss Lucille Sutton, Miss Della Rice Hughes, Miss Mollie Criscillis and Miss Lena Estridge, Indianapolis; Miss Nell Noland, State University, Lexington; Miss Lula Anderson, Richmond Normal School; Mr. George Swinebroad, Centre College, Danville; and J. R. Haselden, at Castle Heights, Lebanon, Tenn.

Miss Dena Harrison, of Berea, is an attractive visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Highland.

J. Bris Conn and son, J. Bris, Jr., are in Detroit, looking after some new models for the local trade.

Misses Margaret and Virginia Fickerson, of Crab Orchard, were visitors in Lancaster last Saturday.

Miss Marcella Johns, of Cincinnati, has returned after a week's visit to Mrs. Shirley Estes and Miss Lillian Estes.

Mr. S. T. Rice and family, of Chattanooga, are leaving for home after spending a month with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Davis.

Mr. Buckner Spindle, of Norfolk, Va., joined his family here for a short stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McRoberts.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones have returned to Louisville, after a visit to Mrs. A. C. Miles and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Carter.

Mr. J. W. Gulley and son, Robert Lillard, of Camp Dick Robinson, have been recent guests of Mrs. A. C. Miles and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. William Casey are receiving congratulations over a dainty little Miss, who arrived at their home Saturday evening, christened, Stella Mae.

Mr. Ector Lawson left last Sunday for Louisville, where he will locate, taking up the practice of law, with Hon. Morton K. Yonts. His offices will be in the Inter Southern building.

Mrs. Ephram P. Brown entertained with a pretty dinner party last week at her home on Stanford street. The table had for its center piece a basket filled with late summer flowers and a delicious course menu served. The guests were Mrs. Flanger, Miss Iva Lee Smith, Mrs. Lee Cox and Miss Christine Cox, of St. Louis, Mo.

One of the lovely late summer social functions given Miss Charlie Elmore was the one by Mrs. J. E. Elmore on Thursday afternoon from three to six. The house was lovely with its collection of antique furniture and vases of bright flowers to lend a festive air to the occasion. There were four tables of bridge and later a number of friends were asked to partake of the delicious luncheon. This consisted of a fruit salad with cream cheese, assorted sandwiches and ice tea. Following this the tiny niece of the bride, Margaret Chenault Blanton, presented to Miss Elmore a large white basket containing the gifts brought by the guests as a miscellaneous shower. Her appreciation and enthusiasm were charming. The occasion was a delightful one.

Miss Joan Mount entertained Friday afternoon complimenting Miss Charlie Elmore, bride-elect. The home on Lexington avenue was additionally pretty with elaborate decorations of yellow marguerites and crystal candle sticks lighted with yellow candles. There were four tables of players and the prize for the top score was won by Miss Angie Kinnaird and Mrs. Robert Kinnaird, who cut for the prize and Mrs. Kinnaird was the fortunate one. There was a guest prize for Miss Elmore. After the games delicious yellow and white brick cream and yellow iced cake were served. The tables were decorated with a crystal vase filled with the yellow marguerites. Assisting in the hospitalities were Miss Mount's mother, Mrs. J. R. Mount and Miss Carolyn Allen, of LaGrange. This was one of the largest, as well as one of the prettiest entertainments of the social season.

The outstanding social event of the past Sunday in this vicinity was the anniversary of the birthday celebration at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Griggs. The honoree being their little daughter, Leota Griggs, who was seven years old that day. Delicious refreshments were served at high noon consisting of watermelon and other good things. Misses Emma and Lula Smith, in a charming way assisted Mrs. Griggs in serving. Those present were: Margaret and Ruth White, Mary Agnes Brown, Josephine Prather, Elizabeth and Lucille White, Cora and Flora Doolin and little J. T. White. All left wishing Miss Leota many more happy birthdays.

The Christian church presented a picturesque setting Tuesday morning with its bower of ferns and white clematis, the arrangement of the decorations making a charming background for a solemnly pretty wedding. The bride, Miss Charlie Elmore Elmore, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Elmore, is one of the capable girls of society, a graduate of Lancaster High School, who later took up the School for the Deaf training, and her pleasure was always found in her best friends, her books and her general interest in all things artistic and literary. In her gown of white satin trimmed in lace, a large white picture hat she was a stately bride. At the altar she was met by the man of her choice, Dr. Gilbert Billings, who comes of a prominent family, identified with the social and commercial interests of Morganton, N. C., his home town. The whole note of harmony was carried out in white, and delicate yellow, green, blue and pink tints. As the guests assembled Mrs. Mae Hughes Noland, the organist, assisted by Miss Amy Dawes, of Bryantsville, and Mrs. John Dunn, of Miami, Florida, rendered a program of special beauty. Mrs. Noland played "I Cannot Help Loving Thee" by Clayton Johns; Mrs. John Dunn sang "Loves Old Sweet Song" by Mollay and Miss Dawes with the violin played "Venetian Love Song" by Nevin and "At Dawning" by Cadman. At the first notes of Mendelssohn wedding march the bridal party passed down the aisles to the altar. First came Miss Sue Chenault

Elmore-Billings

The Christian church presented a picturesque setting Tuesday morning with its bower of ferns and white clematis, the arrangement of the decorations making a charming background for a solemnly pretty wedding. The bride, Miss Charlie Elmore Elmore, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Elmore, is one of the capable girls of society, a graduate of Lancaster High School, who later took up the School for the Deaf training, and her pleasure was always found in her best friends, her books and her general interest in all things artistic and literary. At the first notes of Mendelssohn wedding march the bridal party passed down the aisles to the altar. First came Miss Sue Chenault

of Richmond, and Mr. Robert Walker, of Richmond, then Miss Carolyn Allen, of LaGrange, and Mr. Douglas Chenault, of Richmond, followed by Mrs. J. E. Elmore and Mr. John Brown, of Louisville. Following slowly was the maid of honor, Miss Mary Elmore, who was beautifully gowned in yellow organdy trimmed in silver flowers, a white picture hat and carried a huge bouquet of Ward roses tied with Ward tulle. Then came the beautiful flower and ring girls, Norma Blanton, dressed in blue organdy, Elizabeth Earle Elmore, of Harrodsburg, in peach bloom organdy and Margaret Blanton in white organdy. The charming bride entered with her brother, Mr. J. E. Elmore and at the same time the bridegroom came with his best man, Dr. Pharr, of Morganton, N. C., from another door and the couple met before the minister, Rev. E. B. Bourland, who performed a beautiful and impressive ceremony. The attendants formed a pretty circle making a picture of unusual beauty. During the responses "Call Me Thine Own" was played. After the prayer and blessing the Bridal chorus from Lohengrin sounded joyfully for the departure from the church and down the aisle. The bride was never lovelier and carried a French bouquet of bride roses tied with white tulle. Miss Chenault wore a delicate picture organdy trimmed in yellow, blue and pink rosettes, with a picture hat of white and a huge bouquet of pink roses tied with pink tulle. Miss Allen was gowned in heliotrope organdy with a white picture hat trimmed in white and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Elmore, the matron of honor, was gowned in pale green organdy veiled in lace and silver, with a white picture hat trimmed in silver and carried a huge bouquet of Ward roses. The gifts were of special beauty and the elegant collection was numbered into the hundred. The wedding was one of the most beautiful and interesting events of the social calendar. After a honeymoon Dr. and Mrs. Billings will be at home in Morganton, N. C. The bride is loved and admired by all and is a social favorite, who will be much missed. All join in wishing the attractive couple a long life of joy and happiness and just before their departure they were showered with rose leaves in pink and white and many happy predictions for the future. Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, of Louisville, Mrs. Lula Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Bourne, of Versailles, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elmore, Judge and Mrs. Charles Hardin, of Harrodsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Elmore, of Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Buckner Spindle, of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Edgar Turley, Miss Carolyn Rice, Mrs. Bennett, Miss Bennett, of Richmond, Mrs. Huguely, Mrs. Mary Vincent Fulton, Mrs. W. R. Cook, Miss Margaret Cook, Mr. Val Cook, Mr. and Mrs. John Baughman, of Danville, Miss Covington, of Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Davis, of Morganton, N. C.

ELECTRICITY PUTS THE FINISH- ING TOUCH TO A HOME

SEE BY IT. READ BY IT. COOK BY IT. HEAT
BY IT. IRON BY IT. WASH BY IT.

There is no end to the uses to which you can put electricity when it is installed in your home.

If your home is not wired for electricity let us do it for you now. The cost is less than you might imagine. The benefits are greater than you could conceive—unless you have used electricity before.

A personal interview with us will give you all of the details.

No Mystery About Prophecy.

Prophecy, after all, is merely the Overpolite Orientals.

When we come to truly groveling politeness there are the orientals. So anxious is the native of Japan to exalt his friend or acquaintance that he sets him on a pedestal, so to speak,
and lowers himself to the very dust.
He will not admit that anything he himself owns is even tolerable, no matter how valuable it may be, and to speak with the slightest degree of tolerance of anything he owns is, in his opinion, to arrive at the very zenith of impoliteness.

In the Third Round

By MORRIS SCHULTZ

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

"In the third round, don't forget, kid," Barney had whispered. "Go in for all you're worth, and he'll go easy with you. Then in the third you get it on the jaw and goes down—see?"

Abe nodded. The principals faced each other to the ring. Lofsky, the champion, grinned at Abe and tapped him lightly on the cheek. They sparred and broke away.

Abe was dimly conscious of the vast concourse of spectators. It was the great event toward which he had been working for five years past—his ambition, the welterweight championship.
It had been difficult to find a big man willing to meet him. He had fought his way up from the bottom, and he had had tough luck.

And now, at the last, the thing that he had looked forward to so long had become his infancy. Abe had always fought straight. He was the logical man to meet Lofsky. But Lofsky had refused to meet him. And Abe's young wife and the baby were pining in an East Side tenement.

Then temptation had come in the form of Barney. Lofsky would meet him for the purse of nine thousand dollars, if he would take two thousand and a knockout.

Abe had refused scornfully. He knew that he was a fair match against Lofsky. But things at home were going worse, and Minnie was threatened with tuberculosis. In the end Abe yielded.

"It ain't as if it was your finish,
kid," Barney had said to him. "No body expects you to beat Lofsky, and no one will know. You'll get your chance again some day."

That was the understanding under which they met.

Abe rushed in, pummeling Lofsky fiercely about the body. Lofsky parried and guarded, returning an occasional blow which lacked all of Lofsky's steam. At first Abe thought Lofsky was mindful of the compact; but then he realized that the big man had not trained for the fight. He was beefy, puffy, with too much stomach over his belt.

And then Abe saw that his chance had come. Lofsky had not trained, and he was trained to the ounce. Victory was within his reach, with seven thousand instead of two as his share of the proceeds.

He could redeem himself and fight fair, as he had always done, in confidence of victory, and so avoid the worst offense known to the prize ring.

On the other hand, if he tricked Lofsky and his manager, would he not be guilty of an offense equally bad?

The dilemma was a hideous one, and there seemed no way to escape dishonor.

And suddenly he saw red. He would beat Lofsky at any rate, if he could.
He sprang in and dealt him a blow
upon the jaw that staggered him.
After that he fought furiously, standing up under a rain of punches. He heard Lofsky grunt, he saw the look of surprise come into his face.

The round ended amid tumultuous applause. Abe hardly heard the whispered advice of his seconds. When the next round began he rushed at Lofsky and began driving him all around the ring. A fearful stomach blow momentarily crippled him; then he had sent out his left, and Lofsky had reeled and fallen.

The spectators were growing frantic.
Was this another David? There was an ugly look on Lofsky's face as he rose and met Abe's showering blows.
There was a clinch. Then Lofsky got home on Abe's stomach and cheek, two staggering punches that evened things.
Abe grew cool. He had been rushing it too hard. He guarded for the remainder of the second round.

The third round—the men faced one another. Lofsky was sneering. There was a cut over his eye, and his nose was bleeding. There was a look of uncertainty in his eyes. Abe resolved to put forth all his might in this round, the one in which he was booked to go down. He rushed. He beat down Lofsky's guard. And then—

He opened his eyes. His second was stooping over him, sponging his face.
"What's the matter?" he mumbled.
"Did he get me?"

"Got you in the middle of the round,
kid. Gee, an ox couldn't have stood up against a punch like that of Lofsky's. Say, you sure put up a better fight than was expected!"

As he staggered to his corner Lofsky came up and shook hands. "Gee, kid, you certainly had me guessing," he remarked. "I thought for sure you'd double-crossed me, till you let down your guard, or I wouldn't have struck so hard."

Abe smiled. There was a great peace in his heart. He had been beaten fairly—and fate had ordained that he was to keep his pact. He would fight fair in future. And Lofsky would have to meet him again. He must be ready next time for that punch of Lofsky's.

Colorful Reading.

Not long ago, writes a contributor, while my nephew was consulting the librarian at the Fresno city library, a small boy entered with a book that his mother wished exchanged. But, since she had neglected to send a list of books to choose from, the librarian was somewhat at a loss to know what book to send. Finally she asked:
"Has your mother read Freckles?"
"No, ma'am," replied the boy.
"They're brown,"—Youth's Companion.

Is This Encouraging Idolatry?

Speaking of exports to the East,
there is a certain English firm which,
in the course of its ordinary business,
produces large quantities of waste spelter and lead. This material is melted up, run into molds and exported in the form of images of various eastern gods.

Heavy Loss Caused by Fungi.

The annual loss caused by forest fires is enormous, but it is no greater than that attributable to fungi, which rot nine timbers, bridge timbers, telegraph poles and other structures of wood, necessitating their replacement.
The "life" of the average railway tie is seven and a half years; if fungi would let it alone it would last twice that long.

Electrical Hair Cutting.

There is in use in France an electric substitute for the barber's scissors. It consists of a comb carrying along one side of its row of teeth a platinum wire through which flows an electric current. As the comb passes through the locks to be shorn the heated wire instantaneously severs the hairs, leaving them of even length and sealing the cut ends as in the ordinary process of singeing with a taper.

Fortune Told by the Pansy.

The streaks on the pansy are supposed to foretell destiny. If the petal plucked is marked with four lines, it signifies hope; five, hope sprung from fear; leaning toward the left, a life of trouble; leaning toward the right, prosperity unto the end; if the center one is longest, Sunday will be the wedding day; eight lines denote fickleness;
nine, a changing heart; ten on one petal foretells riches; eleven a large family.

Chemical Knowledge Spreads.

More and more it is coming to be taken for granted that the chemical elements are made up of identically
the same stuff, and that they differ only in their structural arrangements.
More and more the passage from one element to another which has so dumbfounded science when it was first observed taking place spontaneously is coming to be a matter of course and something which we may ultimately hope to control.

Light and Dark of Moon.

The dark of the moon is that part of the lunar month when the moon is covering a period of approximately four days, two days before and two

The rest of the lunar month may be called the light of the moon. These Terrifying Visions in Dreams.

Dreams about rain or water are often signs of irritation of the mucous membranes, and the dreamer should not be surprised to wake up with a sore throat. Should you dream of people several times their normal size,
it is an infallible sign that the liver is affected; while it has been noticed that when the dreams are of pain in any particular part of the body there is something wrong with that part.

SATURDAY, SEPT 9th,

AT 3:30 P. M.

This pretty HOME is located on a nice large corner lot, 155x300 feet on Danville avenue, one of the choice residence streets of the good town of Lancaster, with its splendid schools, fine churches, high class citizenship, three banks, a good business point, etc. A town noted for producing three governors to the grand old Commonwealth of Kentucky and only one Col. Jas. I. Hamilton. We verily believe the Col. thinks that Lancaster is the capital of the U. S. He has often said to us: "I live in the best town, in the best county, and in the best state in the Union."

IMPROVEMENTS: Elegant two-story, seven room residence, two halls, two porches, fully equipped bath room, good cellar, city water and lights, good cistern, spacious lawn, beautiful shade trees, 16 fine fruit trees and quite a bit of grapes. Extra large garden. Good barn, double garage and a world of other outbuildings. All improvements in the pink of condition. An ideal place to live, surrounded by the best of neighbors, just the place for the retired farmer to live and educate his children, enough room to turn around and not be cramped.

Mr. Schooler is a gentleman in all the word means and game to the core.
When he makes up his mind to do anything he usually does it. He has fully made up his mind to let YOU say what this valuable property is worth, and he is going to make a deed on the High Dollar bid on sale day, let the result be as it may. Mr. Schooler will make his home in another town. Homes like this one are scarce. Look it over and be convinced that we are offering something out of the ordinary. We know the more you look the more you will bid.

Terms easy and made known on day of sale.

Remember the day and hour, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9th., AT 3:30 P.
M. Meet us there then, and pound your bids at her. You may be the lucky one to own one of the best homes in Lancaster.

Garrard National Farm Loan Assn

Federal Farm Loans:

RATE OF INTEREST 5½ PER CENT.

For information see

G. B. SWINEBROAD, Secy-Treas.

BE READY JANUARY 1st

I am now accepting applications for loans on farm land to be closed on or before January 1st., and you should now begin to arrange your payments as it requires some time to complete farm mortgage loans.

OUR RATE IS 5½ PER CENT. No red tape, just good old plain farm loans, like getting the money from your local bank, local and liberal valuations fixed. If you are now paying 6 per cent interest you are letting money get away from you that should be saved.

Just call me by phone or write to me at Paint Lick, Ky., office, Peoples Bank, and I will do the rest.

Farmers Find Culls
Do Not Produce Eggs

Eighty hens culled from the flock of 180 Brown Leghorns owned by W. W. Hampton, an Oldham county farmer, who lives near Goshen, failed to produce a single egg during the week after they were removed from the flock, according to a report which he has just made on the culling demonstration conducted on his farm by poultrymen of the College of Agriculture. Scores of reports being received on similar demonstrations conducted in all parts of the state during the last few weeks by the college poultrymen and county agricultural agents show that practically every poultry flock in the state contains a surprising percentage of boarder hens that can be disposed of without reducing the egg production of the flock.

During the week before culling the 180 hens in Mr. Hampton's flock produced a total of 180 eggs. During the week after the 80 boarder hens were removed, the 100 hens produced as many eggs as the 180 had produced during the week before culling.

Similar results were obtained by Mrs. Lee Kendall, who lives near Campbellsville, Taylor county, and who also had her flock culled as a demonstration for farmers and poultry keepers in that section of the state. Fifteen hens removed from her flock of 48 Barred Plymouth Rocks because they showed the characteristic signs of being low producers failed to lay a single egg during the week after culling. During the week before culling, the 48 hens in the flock produced a total of 32 eggs while the 33 hens that were kept as layers produced 24 eggs during the week after reculling.

Sixty hens in a mixed flock owned by Mrs. Charles Gentry, Fayette county, produced a total of 69 eggs during the week before the culling demonstration on her farm while the 50 hens that were kept as layers laid a total of 57 eggs during the week after reculling. The ten hens removed as culls failed to produce an egg during the week after they were removed.

Be careful to whom you give advice. They might take it.

It's fortunate we can't have everything we want. There'd be no joy left in anticipation.

Before Baby Comes

THERE are thousands of expectant mothers who undergo much useless suffering for months before, as well as at the moment when delivery occurs. These months of suffering, with nerves and vital organs weakened, leave their effect upon the child. An eminent physician found the way to stop much of this unnecessary suffering—the same easy way which thousands of mothers have used for three generations.

Mrs. Walter S. Hadley, Bridgeport, Ind., says: "Before my little boy came I was so paralyzed in my hips and limbs I could hardly walk, and some days after a little extra exertion I couldn't walk a step. I felt it coming on this time; in fact, I could hardly get up when I sat down, but now, after using one bottle of Mother's Friend, I am so much better. I feel that I almost owe my life to Mother's Friend."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally to the abdomen, back and hips. It penetrates remarkably, permitting the easier relaxation and distension of muscles, nerves, tissues and ligaments, and their constant easier readjustment during expectancy and at child-birth. Have no more fear or dread, mother! Start using "Mother's Friend" now—the sooner the better.

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse, and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor, because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

"Mother's Friend" contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is safe. For three generations "Mother's Friend" has relieved expectant mothers of much useless suffering. Mother! you must avoid mere greases and useless substitutes. Begin using "Mother's Friend" today. It is sold at drug stores—everywhere.

A Fallen Idol

By ELLA SAUNDERS

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union

"You do love Mumsie, don't you Johnny?" asked his mother, bending down to kiss him.

"Very much, Mumsie, but I love Miss Rogers a teeny little bit more, 'cos she's so nice to me."

Mrs. Adair watched the little figure depart upon its way to school with an old pang at her heart. She had had two children, but one had been taken from her, and she had clung to her little boy with all the devotion of the mother of one.

Miss Rogers, capable, cool, efficient, yet seemed a poor substitute for herself in Johnny's affections.

Had she not slaved for him, given up every minute of her life to him? She had watched the little figure asleep with passionate love. And now he loved Miss Rogers a little bit more.

For a moment she almost hated the school-teacher. She would have liked to have torn her hair, scratched her face, committed any excess of outraged mother-love. Then common sense came to her aid. After all it was probably a childish fancy.

"Mumsie, dear, what shall I give Miss Rogers for her birthday tomorrow?"

"How do you know it's tomorrow?"

"'Cos she told me. She'll be twenty-four," Mrs. Adair smiled. So even if Miss Rogers was not above womanly deceptions! "And I can't flunk whether to give her a pin-box or some flowers. And I've got forty cents."

"What did you give Mumsie last birthday?"

"But I forgot it was your birthday," protested Johnny. "You should have minded me."

Mrs. Adair hardened her heart. She choked down her distress. "I'm afraid that's a matter that you'll have to decide for yourself, Johnny," she answered.

Johnny pondered over the problem all the way to school next morning. When he entered the classroom his mind was still not made up. He glanced up at Miss Rogers, presiding over the little boys and girls. How beautiful she was, with that smooth curl on her forehead! He loved her. He had never dared to tell her so. He wondered if she could guess how much he loved her.

"Johnny, sit up!"

Johnny sat up in consternation. Miss Rogers had never spoken to him quite so crossly as that before. Tears came into his eyes. How sorry she would feel when he gave her her present.

But what should it be? Should he give her the pin-box the next morning, or should he give her the bunch of flowers? He could not possibly make up his mind. Which would Miss Rogers prefer? Suppose he gave her flowers and she would rather have had the pin-box!

"Johnny, come here. What do you mean by loitering in the class like that for?"

Johnny stood in the middle of the room, painfully conscious of the scornful glances of the other children. He began to cry. His Miss Rogers—to treat him so! He fought down the tears, but his lips trembled.

Miss Rogers was really upset that day. She had had a quarrel with her sweetheart. But, of course, Johnny could not have been expected to know that.

"Johnny, you've been idling and dreaming all through the lesson. Now repeat to me what I've taught you."

It was true. Johnny could not repeat a single word. How should he, when he had not heard one? His thoughts had been far away—dreaming about the flowers and the pin-box.

"You really are a very idle, bad boy. Now go to your seat and try to pay attention to what I tell you."

Johnny went back. He felt the tears running down his face. He could no longer contain himself.

"Cry-baby!" whispered the little girl next to him. He slapped her face. "Johnny!"

"Johnny!"

"Johnny!"

"Johnny!"

"Johnny!"

"Johnny!"

Prices on G & J Passenger Car Tires and Tubes, effective May 8th, are not subject to war-tax, the war-tax having been included.

WHY is it that so many thousands of motorists stick to G & J Tires year in and year out?

To the man who is looking for tire economy the reason is worth finding out.

We'd rather let the tires do their own explaining, so we'll simply say—

Get started with one as soon as possible. Cord or fabric. You'll O. K. the quality as soon as you see it in action.

LAMBING-OFF IS PROFITABLE

Demonstration in Indiana County So Successful Last Year That Another Is Planned.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A lambing-off demonstration in La Porte County, Ind., proved so successful last year that plans have been made for a similar one this year, says a report received by the United States Department of Agriculture. Last year a 30-acre field was planted to corn and 100 San soy beans. The bean seed for all but 6 acres was inoculated. The beans were planted with a soy-bean attachment on the corn planter at the rate of 6 pounds an acre.

When the corn and beans matured, 300 lambs, purchased for $6.65 a hundred pounds, were turned in to harvest them. The lambs were sold for $10.25 a hundred pounds, with a total profit of $500. After the lambs were removed from the field about 30 bushels of corn were picked up and some hogs and other live stock turned in to clean up the remainder.

The growth of beans on the 6 acres planted with un inoculated seed was decidedly inferior to the remainder of the field. The demonstration this year will be the third one of this kind on the one farm. The first year only 150 lambs were fed on the demonstration plot, but a profit satisfactory to the owner was made on them.

MAKING TEST WITH PEANUTS

Government Farm at Beltsville Experimenting With Goobers as Feed for Hogs.

Is a soft, oily fat on a hog, produced by feeding peanuts, a characteristic that can be inherited and that will persist regardless of the nature of the ration fed the offspring? That is one of the interesting questions to be investigated by the United States Department of Agriculture at the experiment farm at Beltsville, Md. Both the bacon and lard types will be used, the former to be represented at the start by 4 Poland-China gilts and the latter by 4 Poland-China gilts.

From weaning time until their first litters are weaned these eight gilts will be grown and fed on a peanut ration. From the time of weaning their pigs will be fed on some hardening ration, such as corn and tankage, and will be compared with a check lot of pigs whose dams were fed on hardening feeds instead of peanuts during their development and gestation periods. When the pigs have been grown out and finished, some of each lot will be slaughtered to determine whether there is any difference in the carcasses; that is, if the peanut ration fed to the mothers has made it more difficult to put a hard flesh on the offspring with corn.

CLEAN WATER IS NECESSARY

Nothing Discourages "Growth Impulse" Quicker Than Hog Hankering for a Drink.

Pure clean water at all times—at all times, remember—is one of the necessities for all kinds of swine. Nothing so discourages the "growth impulse" in a hog as wandering around looking for a drink of water when it is thirsty.

FEED USED WHERE PRODUCED

When Hauled About on Trucks and on Railroads the More Expensive It Becomes.

The purpose of feed is to feed live stock, and the more the feed is hauled about in trucks and on railroads the more expensive it becomes. For this reason feed should usually be fed where it is produced.

Cattle for Market. Success in growing cattle for the market depends in large degree on the kind of calves that are produced. No amount of proper feeding will overcome mistakes in breeding and conformation.

Self-Feeding Sows. Some breeders are very successful in self-feeding sows during the suckling period. Experimentally, this practice has given better results than hand feeding.

Still the original process.

Fish Weatherwise.

It is said that most fish, but trout in particular, know what the weather is going to be for about 24 hours in advance.

Daily Thought.

Whatever you would make habitual, practice it; and if you would not make a thing habitual, do not practice it, but habituate yourself to something else.—Epictetus.

Price of Birds' Eggs.

Birds' eggs fetch all sorts of prices. A sparrow's egg can be purchased for a few cents, while the egg of the extinct great auk is worth at least $1,000. If not more. Large sums are also offered for the eggs of the passenger pigeon.

Earth's Movement Fixed.

The lengths of the days and nights appear not to have varied appreciably since the earth took the present shape. A very slight change of rotation would produce grinding and fracturing in the rocks, and geologists find no trace of such action.

Seeing the Brighter Side.

Persistent endeavor to look on the brighter side of things will soon destroy the habit of magnifying the evils of life. What is more to the point, it will aid us in combating evil more successfully, thus destroying the fear that the world is going to the devil.

White Flowers and Moths.

The reason why certain pale flowers smell sweetly when dusk falls is because they are pollinated by moths, which are dusk-flying creatures. The scent is a guide to the winged visitors, and the pale color also helps. Notice honeysuckle, night-scented stock, and the tobacco plant.

Explaining Meteoric Stones.

Though there is some uncertainty as to the origin of meteoric stones or meteorites, they probably are the minute fragments of the primitive solar nebula that failed to be swept up originally in the formation of the larger members of the system and which finally chanced to be trapped by the earth's atmosphere.

Toad's Hearty Appetite.

The toad must catch his own meals. He scorns dead food. He must see it move to be sure it has not slipped the bonds of life and begun to spoil. In a day and a night he captures enough to stuff his stomach full four times, although if he had to he could exist without eating longer than any other creature.—Popular Science Monthly.

Actually "Sight Unseen."

In Morocco youths and maidens fare badly indeed, for they are not even allowed to see each other before the wedding. Now and again a venturesome youth will hide himself in the room when the young woman is coming to pay the customary state call to his mother, but even this needs to be done with a considerable amount of caution.

Eskimo Not Dainty Feeder.

The Eskimo is not particular about the cut of his meat. He eats everything physically possible of a reindeer or fish or polar bear (and what he does not eat he wears or makes into houses or tools). Particularly does he seem to relish the frozen stomach of the reindeer. This stomach, full of finely chewed reindeer moss, he freezes solid and stores away, according to Doctor Marquis, until he is vitamin hungry, when a piece is sliced off, thawed out and eaten as a rare delicacy.

The laboring man now has a national holiday—a day set apart on which to celebrate his achievements and advancement.

The laboring man of today has a bank account; he no longer cashes his check at the corner saloon. He deposits his pay check in the bank, or if he is paid in cash he deposits that and pays his bills by means of checks.

We invite the accounts of all workingmen and working women. These accounts may be small, but all are given courteous treatment by our bank. Come and see us on pay day.

TRACT NO. 33—Three-fourths interest in about one hundred acres of coal land, in Knox county, near that thriving town of Barbourville, Ky., and on which are three separate kinds of coal, one mine being that famous Blue Gem, one Black Blue Gem and one undeveloped mine, which was only recently discovered and has coal about seven feet thick. If you want to make some real money this is your opportunity and this coal land only about one-half mile from Cumberland & Manchester Rail Road.

TRACT NO. 34—Haselden Bros. Hardware Store, including stock of hardware, implements, buggies, etc. Practically all the best and most up-to-date lines are carried here, and there are but few if any in Central Kentucky that are better equipped and we invite your inspection. If you want a clean well selected stock and a business with a location and a business that has taken years to build, then this one should appeal to you. The late improvements only recently made makes this one of the most desirable hardware stores in this section. This store is equipped not only with the choicest lines, but has a modern front and every other convenience, such as floor cases, wall cases, cash register and every up-to-the-minute improvement.

TRACT NO. 35—Haselden Bros. Garage,—a large two story concrete building and one of the best in the state, and if you want a combination business of hardware store and garage this opportunity you should grasp. We are selling hundreds of cars as our records will show and our accessory business has been most satisfactory. There has never been a minute to loose since this place was built and for a shop equipment we say there are few City shops in Louisville or Cincinnati that is better equipped.

TRACT NO. 36—The Handsome brick residence of about 14 rooms, now occupied by R. S. Brown, on Lexington Ave., and one of the best homes in Central Kentucky, and has furnace heat and dandy bath room. This home is well arranged for boarding house or can be occupied by several families and will make a dandy apartment house and is the best opportunity ever offered for a real investment, for it will be a money maker to any one desiring property of this kind.

TRACT NO. 37—The brick residence of J. R. Haselden, situated on Hill Court, and has about four acres of the best land in the county. This home has two bath rooms and furnace heated and has been lately remodeled and for a real home you can't beat it anywhere. This house has dandy basement, good cistern and every convenience and shrubs and fruit trees that only time itself can supply for if you desire a home that you will like in every particular then this one will supply your every wish.

TRACT NO. 38—The home of S. G. Haselden with basement under entire house and has furnace heat and two bath rooms, and house has eight rooms and sleeping porch, and clothes chute to basement and every convenience and has about three acres of land and garage, barn, etc., and if you are looking for a modern home with all conveniences you must not overlook this opportunity.

TRACT NO. 39—The lot on Lexington street formerly owned by R. H. Batson and is 60x100 feet deep, and one of Lancasters' best. This lot is suitable for business or residence property and is a dandy in every particular.

TRACT NO. 40—Lot between water tower and West store room and is desirable for business lots and will be priced right.

TRACT NO. 41—The handsome Crescent Hill home on Stanford pike, now occupied by Joe Aldridge and is one among Garrard county's best improved farms and consists of about one hundred and twenty-five acres of land suitable for tobacco, corn, hemp, etc., and is one of the best locations in the state for a stock farm and improvements, we say it's practically in a class of itself. The house is a new brick of nine rooms, has dandy basement and furnace heated and every room well arranged and has dandy sleeping porch. This house is built of selected brick and is one of Will Stones' best jobs and aside from the conveniences at the house it has one of the best equipped barns in the county, and this is a home you seldom have the opportunity to buy.

TRACT NO. 42—The double store room now occupied by us and has two large brick store rooms and dandy basement under each room, running entire length and two large rooms upstairs, including offices now occupied by Tomlinson and Hays. In addition thereto is a dandy three story warehouse, with elevator warehouse and has three entrances for loading purposes. This double store room is near the Court House and in the center of Lancaster's business district and not a better located business point can be found in the City of Lancaster. Elevator runs to third floor and for convenience we say this one can't be beat in location or convenience to any line you may desire.

This sale will be conducted privately and you may call on J. R. or S. G. Haselden or either of their salesmen, or David Thomas for full information and particulars and you will be made prices and terms that will appeal to you for we mean business and are going to sell.
